

Natural gas pool and hot tub heaters

Natural gas is a natural for outdoor appliances. It's easy to extend your home's gas supply, and it's an economical way to enjoy outdoor living year-round.

Wouldn't you like to get more swim days out of your pool, or sit for a long soak in your hot tub on a crisp autumn evening for a little star-gazing? You can, with the help of natural gas heaters for your hot tub or pool. Designed to economically extend summer living, natural gas water heaters work much faster than electric models. So go ahead: soak in all seasons. And take evening dips well past sundown.

The benefits of natural gas hot tub heaters

- mid and high-efficiency heaters use less fuel than older, standard efficiency models
- heat water faster than with electricity
- consistent and comfortable water temperature
- electronic ignition systems eliminate the need for a continually burning pilot light, saving both fuel and money

The benefits of natural gas pool heaters

- higher-efficiency models now available require less fuel than earlier, standard efficiency heaters
- can heat pools of any size
- gives you more usable days in the year
- precise temperature control
- many designs and levels of heat output available
- easy-to-use thermostat
- wasteful pilot lights not required with electronic ignition systems

Energy-saving tips

- use an insulated cover to keep the heat in when you're not using your hot tub or pool
- look for higher-efficiency pool and hot tub heater models with thermal efficiencies of 81 per cent or higher
